

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Work or fight!

Sternly, Uncle Sam enforced that hard-boiled, wartime mandate back in 1917 and 1918.

During the first world conflict, the War Industries board, convinced that certain skilled workmen could serve their country better in essential industries than in military service, asked that the drafting of such men be deferred. Uncle Sam acted promptly. Certain classes of occupations were declared non-essential—and workers of draft age in such occupations were told either to find jobs in essential war industries or report to their draft boards. The order of the day was: work-or-fight!

Thus far, in 1941, no such command has been issued, but Uncle Sam, determined to get his "arsenal of democracy" into high gear production, is again taking steps to mobilize the nation's man-power. By proclamation of President Roosevelt, the week of May 4-10 has been designated as National Employment Week—under direction of the American Legion, cooperating with Federal and State employment services. The purpose is two-fold: 1.—To help find jobs for unemployed workers and fit them for employment; 2.—To provide more skilled workmen for war industries.

In California, with the program under direction of former Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield, chairman of the American Legion Employment commission, and Oliver A. Barr, manager of the Employer Service Division of the State Department of Employment, attention will be focused during the special week on plans to get older workers back into regular employment and to give them "re-fresher training," if necessary, to fit them for jobs available.

Local boards of education throughout the state, with the financial aid of the Federal government, are in position to offer three types of courses to assist unemployed workers: apprenticeship training for the man now employed who wants better employment, and "re-fresher" or pre-employment courses to fit older workers for specialized occupations.

Uncle Sam's new "work" order—even though it is not backed up by the stern "or fight" provision of World War days—is having both economic and political repercussions. School boards are getting applications from thousands of workers who want training for skilled trades. In the legislature, make-work bills, such as full-crew acts and extra-brake-men bills, have been placed in the same category with the depression's leaf-raking WPA projects. And relief rolls are steadily dropping as tens of thousands of unemployed answer the nation's call for skilled workers.

Mr. Van Dyke thanked the P.-T. A. for the stage curtain for the little theater stage which they had provided.

A question box and discussion was conducted by Mr. Van Dyke and members of the faculty on "Problems of School Activities and Curriculum."

Live Oak Nine To Play Here

The up-and-coming Campbell Union High school baseball nine will take on a delegation from Live Oak High, from Morgan Hill, Friday at 3:40 on the local field.

The game, a non-league contest, promises to be a hotly fought game since the local team is made up almost entirely of returning veterans and the Morgan Hill boys managed to eke out a 5-4 win over San Jose Tech last week. Messa, Rose and possibly Horio will handle the pitching assignment for Campbell. Either Hartley or Buccellato will be receiving behind the plate.

Others on the team are: Wheeler, Silva, Scortino, Parker, Porter, Kirkitch and Richardson.

Winfield Archibald who is now located in San Luis Obispo was home for Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Archibald.

Interclub Meeting Enjoyable Affair Of Tuesday Noon

The interclub meeting of the Los Gatos and Campbell Kiwanis clubs was one of the very pleasant events of the year. Very friendly relations exist between the two groups and the presentation of the "Log Book of Friendship" by Prentiss Brown and accepted by President Joe Gomes exemplified these mutual feelings.

A well rounded program was given by Miss Ruby Anderson, soloist, Dan McNeill, Campbell high student, accordion selections and by Geraldine Littig, who repeated her winning speech on "Can American Youth Meet the Challenge of Foreign Isms?"

Next Monday, April 21, the local club will visit San Jose to pass on the log book and that club will provide the program. This will take the place of the regular Tuesday meeting here.

The Footlighters Hold Meeting

The Footlighters met Tuesday evening in the hall with Archie Keesling presiding during the business meeting at which several committees were appointed for the production of "Under the Gaslight." Several members were voted into the organization.

Members of the group presented a skit "Apple Pie" in which Dean Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Leverton, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cramer and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Agostinho took part.

Following this hilarious performance, refreshments were served.

The initiatory degree will be exemplified tonight upon a class of three candidates at the regular meeting of Morning Light Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Dean Chamberlin, dramatic teacher at the high school, spent last week with his parents in Chico.

Elizabeth Taylor Will Be Speaker At Club Meeting

Miss Elizabeth Taylor of Mountain View will be guest speaker at the Country Woman's club meeting on Monday.

The musical portion of the program will be songs by Josephine Barbano. Also on the program will be dances by girls of the Japanese club.

Mrs. C. P. Klassen is program chairman for the afternoon. Other members of the committee are Mesdames B. E. Walton, H. M. Shadle, W. S. Smeed, H. A. Baugh, Rudolph Nelson.

Mrs. W. R. Morgan will preside at the business meeting preceding the program. Plans will be discussed for a "Kitchen Shower" party to be given by the club on May 23.

Church to Have Noted Speaker Here April 21

A red letter date for the Congregational church of Campbell will be Monday, April 21, when Dr. George White, secretary of the Home Mission Board of New York will speak at the church.

Dr. White, who is one of the outstanding negroes of America, will speak at 7:30 p. m. and the public is cordially invited to hear him.

Dr. White is a leader of Congregationalism in America and an authority on the negro problem. He has been the principle of the Burrell Normal School for Negroes in Alabama for 20 years. He has also travelled widely in Africa and assisted in founding the West African Mission. As a speaker he is humorous and sympathetic. Further arrangements will be advertised later.

Judge Blaine Presides at Trial Here Wednesday

A case called in Justice of the Peace John D. Blaine's court was tried Wednesday in the Odd Fellows hall, as it was a jury case.

Action was brought against Burt and John Burda of the Campbell Hatchery by a state inspector. The count on which the case was tried was that of placing incubator eggs in improper containers prior to shipping.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty on that charge with a recommendation of leniency as defendants claimed the eggs were supposed to have another candling before shipping. However, the inspector stated that over the phone he had been told that they were ready for shipment.

James B. Peckham, deputy district attorney, prosecuted the case and Attorney John Jones, represented the Burdas.

Serving on the jury were George Husted, foreman; Mesdames Julius Bachman, Hattie Baugh, Elizabeth Duncan, Ellis Preston and Messrs. Ira Beal, Robert Scholz, Manuel Silva, John McBain, Russell Kennedy, George Parso and Theodore Cutting.

Members of Local PTA Unit Attend Dist. Convention

Mrs. W. F. Grattan and Mrs. David Sanders of the Campbell Union Grammar School P.-T. A. attended the sixth district annual convention, Monday, April 14, in Los Gatos. The theme of the convention was "Growth and Understanding as Parents and as Citizens." Father Cornelius F. Deeney, professor of political science at the Santa Clara University, spoke in the afternoon on that subject.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Ira R. Abbott and Mrs. Grattan attended the dinner and address at the First Methodist church. The speaker was Dr. H. E. Chamberlain, psychiatrist for the state department of social welfare.

Mrs. Grattan* will give a brief summary of these very interesting speeches at the next meeting on May 13, at the Campbell Union Grammar school.

The Men's club held a ladies night Monday in which over 100 took part. The tables at the Congregational church were beautifully decorated by the men and a Chinese dinner was enjoyed. Mrs. Dorothy Rich and Dennis Bennett sang and Rev. T. D. Preston from Soquel showed pictures on Hawaii. The men in charge of arrangements were George Jeffers, Emmett Farnham, Fred Evans, Dave Sanders, Harry Rich, Claude Block, president, Paul Frank, treasurer.

The Wehmeyer's made their home here for two different periods. During the second residence Mr. Wehmeyer was in the garage business in the building now occupied by the Nelson Grain company.

He was a member of Saint Barnaby Lodge, I. O. O. F. of King City, and funeral services were conducted Tuesday by Morning Light lodge of Campbell, with the Rev. J. H. Bennett officiating. Interment was in Los Gatos cemetery.

Surviving members of his family are his wife, Mary E., and son F. Roy Wehmeyer.

Mrs. R. B. Hummel Is Seriously Injured In Auto Accident

Mrs. R. B. Hummel of Union avenue was gravely injured in an automobile accident Sunday on Tehachapi pass not far from Bakersfield. She was brought by airplane to San Jose and taken to the San Jose hospital.

She had both knee caps fractured and a gash on her face, but was reported resting fairly well.

Mr. Hummel who was driving their car accompanied her in the airplane ambulance, which made the flight from Bakersfield to the King road airport in an hour and 27 minutes.

Mrs. Hummel taught English in the Campbell High school for a number of years after she and her husband returned from Africa where they were in missionary work. Since retiring from the faculty she has not been in good health and had one rather serious illness so that this accident is a real tragedy.

It is reported that the driver of the other car was entirely at fault, coming out from a side road and crashing into them, so that the insurance company is not contesting the case.

Mrs. Mary Parkhill who had spent the past two months in Los Angeles arrived here for a visit with friends before journeying on to her home in Minnesota. Mrs. Parkhill is a former resident of North Union avenue. She is located at the Campbell hotel during her stop over.

Mrs. Edwin Parker, who is employed in a Crockett bank spent Easter here with her husband, and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan.

"I READ IT IN THE PAPER!"

It may be the price of eggs, a new trend in dress styles, the latest medical discovery, or some startling development in the Battle of Britain, but whatever it is, when you inquire—"Where did you hear that?"—the reply nine times out of ten, will be: "I read it in the paper!"

The newspaper is so much a part of our lives that it is often taken for granted, like the sun or the stars, or the air we breathe and the water we drink. If it's late, we call up and yelp about it, just like we complain about the weather. A paper, unlike other businesses, doesn't belong to any one man or woman in particular; it belongs to all its readers. The editor learns that every time an editorial is written that rubs somebody the wrong way, or the club notes are left out, or a name misspelled. A paper is history hot off the press—the drama of the world and the story of Our Town. But it is also church calendar, theater guide and the housewife's shopping manual.

The newspaper is almost as much a part of America as the stars and strips in the Flag. It recorded the birth of America; it reported the day by day, and week by week, the growth of America; it came across the plains, with a stick of type or two, when America marched West; it reported the death of Lincoln and it held the forms to tell the story when Mrs. Smith had twins. The newspaper publisher has more bosses than any other man in town, and once in a while when he gets mad he has to remind himself that a paper not only belongs to the community, it's part of the community. And then the publisher is proud.

A crazy business, this business of publishing a newspaper. And now we can hear someone remark—"It must be so; I read it in the paper!"

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

Public Schools Week will be observed in California from April 28 to May 3—the twenty-second such annual celebration devoted to schools, their achievements and their needs.

Most of the schools throughout the state will proudly proclaim "open house" for at least a part of that week, throw wide their doors and invite public inspection. What a contrast visitors will find between the modern educational plant and the Little Red Schoolhouse that fond parents used to visit on the final Friday of each month to hear their offspring "recite" or grope through a spelling bee!

California is proud of her schools, and justly so. She loves to brag to other states about her extensive educational system, the costliness of the outlay, the armies of teachers she employs, the length and diversification of the curriculums. This year will bring longer thoughts than usual, perhaps, on our system of free education—and soberer evaluation of what that system means.

To a whole generation of youngsters growing up in Middle Europe today, free education is a thing unknown; it is a thing of the past in the blighted countries of other millions.

Possibly that knowledge will make citizens here look with even fiercer pride and deeper appreciation on our school system. It would be well for every citizen to spend a little time during Public Schools Week within the four walls of a local school, seeking to understand a little better, to appreciate a little more fully, the great blessing of free education in a world that has lost much of freedom and traded much of liberalism for license and piracy.

FREE FRANCE LIVES ON

France lives under the dark shadow of the swastika, but the spirit of freedom among its people survives. The opportunities on which that spirit may express itself are few, but those few are significant. The coup d'etat which overthrew Yugoslavia's pro-Axis government was greeted with public demonstrations in France. When U. S. Ambassador Leahy visited Marseilles the other day, several thousand persons lined the streets and clung to walls and lamp posts, to cheer the American representative. Only in such infrequent mass demonstrations as these can the people of France safely give vent to their feelings, feelings which belie the cringing words of the Vichy government. People who have once known freedom do not accept substitutes. In a conquered France, the spirit of free France lives on.

FOR ART'S SAKE

Thomas Benton of Missouri, one of America's most celebrated painters would like to take the capital "A" out of Art.

Instead of making people go to museums to see pictures, he'd bring the pictures to the people. As far as artist Benton himself is concerned, he would prefer that his paintings—of mountain hill-billies, tumble down shacks of mountaineers, antiquated trollies and a host of other picturesque items of American life—hung in saloons where they would be certain to be seen by a large number of spectators.

"If it was left to me," says Missouri's famous son, "I wouldn't have any museums. I'd like to sell mine in saloons, Kiwanis and Rotary and other clubs, and chambers of commerce—even women's clubs."

But whether museums be regarded as graveyards or not, the fact is that within the last ten years all over America, art has ceased to be the highbrow's or millionaire's hobby. Through national magazines and nationwide newspaper campaigns, millions of reproductions of great paintings of the past and present have been made available at prices within easy reach of the average man's purse, and what's more the average man has gobbled them up. Art has climbed down off its high horse, made itself available to the man in the street, while books of reproductions have broken into the best-seller lists.

With museums or without 'em, the public is viewing art and buying it. What the special significance of all this is we can't say, but the day when it was a monopoly of the few has definitely vanished. And this, even Thomas Benton will agree, is all to the good.

ONE HUNDRED DAYS

So much delay has attended stepping up of production in the rearmament drive, skeptics may have concluded slow speed ahead was inevitable.

Yet we cite the case of one major aircraft company whose plant has just gone into operation at Dallas, Texas, producing 400 training and pursuit planes a week for the United States and Great Britain.

This new assembly plant was completed down to the last bolt in the record-breaking time of 100 days, and this despite the fact it was an entirely new type of structure—the nation's first blacked-out plane factory. It comprises six air-conditioned, windowless, artificially lighted units, with the largest building, approximately one thousand feet wide and long, built entirely of steel and concrete.

Completed in 100 days, the first planes already began rolling off the assembly lines last week.

Here is evidence of what organized, efficient effort can accomplish, a model which other defense industries might well copy. If, as John D. Biggers, O PM director of production says, the nation's future may depend on just what industry can achieve during these next 100 days, there is no time to waste in hurdling the stumbling blocks to speedier production. Great as the job is, it can be done—even in 100 days! The evidence that proves it is on the books!

Thomas Recital Saturday Night In San Jose

The San Jose Concert series will close its fifth annual season on this Saturday evening, April 19, with a gala recital by the noted John Charles Thomas, America's greatest baritone. The concert will be held in the civic auditorium, San Jose, and begin at 8:20 o'clock.

John Charles Thomas was born in a little Pennsylvania town, son of a Methodist minister. He studied medicine and expected to be a doctor, but his amazing voice attracted the attention of New York managers and Thomas was soon the star of light opera. Grand opera followed and today there is no greater operatic or concert baritone than the all-American, John Charles Thomas.

Program for his San Jose concert includes Texas Cowboy songs, Stephen Foster's "Gentle Annie," a Negro spiritual, British songs of humor and folk, an operatic aria and French and Italian songs. Carroll Hollister will accompany and play a group of piano soli.

Miss Dorothy Merriman and Mrs. Ellen Mills who had been on an Easter vacation to Arizona where they visited the Misses Merriman aunts of Miss Dorothy, arrived home Saturday. They were accompanied as far as Bakersfield by Miss Sadie Maxson who was the guest of her niece Mrs. Hilda Gilboe, who is assistant county superintendent of Kern county.

State Players to Present "Hamlet" April 23 to 26

San Jose State college has announced that preparations are under way for the biggest dramatic production since the Golden Jubilee presentation six years ago. "Shakespeare's 'Hamlet'" has been chosen for the spectacular offering. Dates for the presentation are April 23 through 26 in the college little theater.

Three faculty members of the college are playing heavy roles. James Clancy, director of college drama is cast in the role of Hamlet. Lawrence Mendenhall will be seen as the humorous old man Polonius. Ray Irwin will play the villainous King Claudius.

Heading the supporting cast of forty students are Barbara Trelease, Betty Stowe, Clarence Cassell, Joseph Juracich, Frank Soares, Harrison McCreath and Duane Heath.

pectedly hurried up when the date of opening the Mercury Herald's Sacramento bureau was moved from May to Tuesday, April 15, and of which Ferris was to be in charge. So they visited Justice Blaine, with whom Peggy is well acquainted, and with Mrs. Blaine and daughter as witnesses the civil service was performed, and the two hurried away for a short honeymoon on the Monterey peninsula, but were to take up residence in Sacramento to begin reporting capital news last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Palmer of San Jose, who have many friends in Campbell, their home for several years, have been ill, he with a case of pneumonia and Mrs. Palmer with a severe cold. Both are improving and sitting up for short periods.

Several groups of elaborate costumes have been designed for the presentation and are being constructed by Goldstein's of San Francisco. Settings have been designed for an especially enlarged stage by J. Wendell Johnson of the college faculty. Hugh W. Gillis, head of the college department of speech and drama, is director of the production.

Seats are reserved for all performances. Friday evenings presentation is sold out with advance sales, but seats for other evenings may be reserved by calling Ballard 7800 or addressing the college.

SERVICE and DEPENDABILITY

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Old Marshal Petain, in his tragic epitaph of conquered France, wrote: "Our spirit of enjoyment was stronger than our spirit of sacrifice. We wanted to have more than we wanted to give. We tried to spare effort, and met disaster!"

Millions of Americans read that bitter requiem, when it was first pronounced, but perhaps we should all read it again—for there are forces at work in this country which threaten national disaster, if they are allowed to go unchecked.

There are racketeering labor unions which consider the collection of exorbitant dues from the workmen they are supposed to protect more important than the success of the nation's preparedness program.

There are blind, stupid, selfish, mis-named leaders of labor who arrogantly disregard the public welfare—and the welfare of the men who follow them—by paralyzing the nation's industries with walkouts and strikes at a time when the survival of not only our democracy, but democracy the world over, depends upon the productivity of our fields and factories.

And there are other mis-called labor leaders who have succumbed to the blandishments and gold of the enemies of America and are willing to betray their men and their country for thirty pieces of silver.

At a time when America needs to profit from the lesson of France, we are face to face with conditions here which parallel, all too significantly, the conditions which brought disaster over there.

There are millions of honest, law-abiding, patriotic men in the American labor movement, who want to work for their country, so that their sons will not need to fight and die for it. But under the outrageous, un-democratic conditions which exist today, they are slugged or clubbed if they show up for work to help their nation in a period of emergency. They are threatened with being black-listed, so that they cannot obtain employment in any union shop; bricks are hurled through the windows of their homes and their families are terrorized. Police who attempt to help them have their cars over-turned by gangsters of the racketeering unions. And even the President of the United States has to publicly admit and deplore the existence of Communist-control in many labor unions.

Pundita Circle will meet on Wednesday, April 23 at the home of Mrs. W. H. Stray for the annual meeting. At this time all officers will make reports of the year's work, all outstanding bills will be presented and paid, and the committee chairmen will give their reports. The officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Mrs. Milton Herold and children, Virginia and Roger, returned Sunday from a week spent at Del Mar and Capitola.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Clark and sons, spent Easter with relatives in Fresno.

Isn't it time, perhaps, that the members of the state legislature at Sacramento—and the members of Congress in Washington—read once again Marshal Petain's story of the downfall of France?

Isn't it time that all real Americans—workers and employers alike—read once again that prophetic warning?

Isn't it time that we threw off the shackles of tyranny in our own country, if we are to be successful in stemming the tide of tyranny elsewhere?

The rank and file workmen of America, apparently, can't do the job alone, without inviting the kind of reprisals which have been blazoned in headlines all over the country for weeks past—beatings, knifings, death or critical injury.

But Congress and the Legislature and a few courageous public officials, backed up by public opinion, can do the job—and must, if this country is to prove to the world that America is still a democracy.

There are bills pending, both in Washington and at Sacramento, which can take care of the situation—acts which will clean up labor's house and stamp out the racketeers and traitors who have infested it. There is little need here to discuss the specific measures, for our responsible authorities know what laws they need and how to get them—if they want them.

The need is for men with the courage to act. This country can't be conquered by any totalitarian power, or combination of totalitarian powers, on the face of the earth—unless it is first made ready for conquest by its own apathy and indifference to the enemies within its gates.

The hour is already late. The time is here when we must make our decision. Let's have no bitter epitaph read over America!

A MESSAGE FROM THE ELECTRICAL INDUSTRY

How to make sure the house you buy or build has ADEQUATE WIRING

A house is "underwired" IF—

Lights blink or go dim when a heavy duty appliance is turned on.

Toasters or other heating appliances are slow coming up to proper temperature.

Lamps or clocks or radios must be disconnected in order to use vacuum cleaner or movie projector.

A traffic jam occurs at certain outlets and a wobbly three or four way plug must be used.

Your furniture arrangement is restricted by the location of your plugs for lamps, clocks and radios.

Every year thousands of new homes have wiring systems installed that are just short of being first-class jobs. It seems a pity that this occurs because small additional cost would assure the home builder getting a wiring job that would not bring disappointments in years to come.

Think of the many electrical appliances used in the modern home. Each year two or three additional new appliances are acquired and put into use. Then "traffic jams" occur at convenience outlets, circuits become overloaded and voltage drops so that lamps and appliances do not operate to full efficiency.

Plan each room in your house for adequate wiring. Discuss wiring completely with your architect and contractor. Talk with your electrical contractor or this company. Then plan your home wiring to meet the Red Seal Standard of Certified Adequate Wiring.

The Red Seal Plan is a set of specifications set up by wiring experts of the electrical industry. Remember Adequate Wiring will pay for itself many times over.
